That Carmel is rapidly becoming as popular during the winter months as it is in the good old summer time is evidenced by the fact that many of our summer visitors have lengthened their stay throughout the rainy spell, among them being Mrs. Florence Brown and children of Piedmont, and Mrs. William Swain and children from Marysville, Mrs. R. C. Kirchner and small son Dickie, and Miss Millicent Swain are here also for the winter.

The Thanksgiving.

By Eugene C. Dolson.

Work of the harvest ended,
Now, as the year grows old,
Granaries overflowing,
Full as the bins can hold,

Peace and plenty surround us—
Each has a bounteous share;
Thanks to the fertile farmlands,
Oblivious everywhere.

Thanks to the sturdy toiler,
Answering duty's call;
Thanks to the gracious Giver,
Infinite Lord of all.

Brothers, once more united—
Brothers from far away;
Each of us yet remembers
This our Thanksgiving Day!

A Day of Nature.

Thanksgiving day is our one national festival that turns on home life. It is not a day of ecclesiastical saints. It is not a patriotic anniversary. It is not a day celebrating a religious event. It is a day of nature. It is a day of thanksgiving for the year's history. And it must pivot on the household. Remember God's bounty brought the year. String the pearls of His goodness. Give this day to thanks, to joy, to gratitude—Henry Ward Beecher.

Miss Elizabeth Chandler has left for Turlock, where she intends spending several weeks with friends.

Interesting Art News

Percy Gray, whose water color brush has made the eucalyptus tree famous, is hard at work in the hills back of Half Moon Bay and intends painting his way to Carmel. Gray proposes to turn out many seascapes next year, and will be a familiar figure on the Carmel Beach in the near future.

Miss Vera Limbeau and Mme. Theo. Durand closed the San Francisco Club's 1920 series of art talks last Saturday. Miss Limbeau discussed the canvasses and Mme. Durand the sculpture. The 1921 club term and the new galleries will open following the holidays, and these popular free talks will be resumed.

The interesting collection of paintings of the old masters, now being exhibited at the Palace of Fine Arts, was the subject of J. Nielsson Larvik's last week's lecture. Larvik's interesting talk upheld his international reputation as an authority on art subjects.

Francisco Cornejo, the well-known Spanish painter, has interested many American artists in recommending the ancient Aztec art as their motif. Cornejo forecasts the establishment of a distinctly American type of art in this manner.

Arthur Cahill has sent word to his friends in Carmel that New York has lost its charms for him since the arrival of his "Little Jimmy," and that he would rather walk the floor at night than hit the Great White Way. Cahill was called East recently by a very flattering offer to paint portraits of several Eastern millionaires, and we will not be a bit surprised to hear that President Harding has ordered Arthur to prepare for his official portrait.

A San Francisco daily newspaper is conducting a movie location photographic contest with a hundred dollar prize to the winner. There are small daily awards which our own Louis Slavin is passing up. He has the winning Carmel scene in his safe, and is holding out until neares the end of the contest. When it comes to real art in photography we have the champion in our midst.

Francis McComas is closing his studio here for a few months, tour of the East with Mrs. McComas. Several new canvasses of the Carmel district have already been shipped for the opening of the McComas holiday exhibition in New York.

Word was received in Carmel yesterday that Penrynn Stanislaus, artist and illustrator, has arranged a visit to the Pacific Coast within the next few months. During his visit Mr. Stanislaus will address the University of Fine Arts Society.

A clever series of sketches of the Carmel Mission and surrounding coast, by Adolph Beisen, were placed on exhibition at the Rabjohn and Morcom galleries in San Francisco Monday.

Captain Bruce Bairnsfather, the world famous cartoonist and creator of "Old Bill," will arrive in San Francisco within a few days and offer a series of lectures accompanied by demonstrations of his humorous drawings.

Annie Laurie will conduct the unveiling ceremonies next Thursday at the Fairmount Hotel when Mrs. Reggie Urdahl Smith's statue of "Pegasus" will be formally presented to the womanhood of the community.

Manifold Blessings Accorded to This Nation.

Surely One Needs Only a Few Moments' Reflection to Realize the Causes for Gladness.

It is written of Plato that, "looking through the dim spectacles of nature, he gave thanks to God for three things: First, that he was created, a man and not a beast. Second, that he was born a Grecian and not a barbarian. Third, that he was born a possible philosopher."

If this represents the pagan ideal of gratitude, it is in marked contrast to the Christian ideal. A boastful spirit has no place in true thanksgiving to God. The Pharisee who went up to the temple to pray and thanked God that he was not as other men, was roundly rebuked by Christ for his presumption. The last place for one to display his egotism should be before the throne of God. "Whoever will be great among you, let him be your minister," said Christ. It is a time for true humility of spirit.

Now that this nation has grown rich beyond the dreams of the austere pioneers, do Americans of today recognize the source of their manifold blessings, and will they with true humility acknowledge their gratitude to the giver of all good gifts, "forgetting not all his benefits?"

America is today the richest and most powerful nation of the earth, and it is this very opulence that leads the people, most liberally blessed of all, to neglect to remember the source of good. In days of opulence and power men are prone to put their trust in themselves and to underestimate those influences that have made them great.

Ingratitude has been called the most popular sin in the world, because it is the result of selfishness, or egotism or ambition or whatever the cause may be. Nations, being an aggregation of individuals, in their days of power have a tendency to trust in themselves and to disregard the laws of God.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

To Protect Shrubs and Wild Flowers

Dr. William Frederick Bade, President of the Sierra Club, spoke in San Francisco Tuesday evening on the importance of protection for native shrubs and flowers.

A committee composed of representatives of the Tamalpais Conservation, the Alpine Club, the Audubon Association and the Wildflower Conservation League was appointed to call the attention of the Legislature to the wanton destruction of wild shrubs and flowers.

Reckless Poisoning Situation Alarming

It may be wisely said that there are more brains and ingenuity concentrated in Carmel than in any other place in the country, and we have a serious situation here to cope with which will need them all.

The scattering of the strychnine which has killed many Carmel pets has grown in alarming proportions, and nothing should be overlooked toward the capture of the person responsible. This deadly poison is being thrown about and is not only endangering the lives of the animals for which it is intended, but the lives of the little children who play at random through Carmel.

A very valuable police dog, owned by Jaime De Angulo, is the latest victim preceded by the killing of Mrs. L. E. Gottfried's "Jerry," M. Hunkin's "Traddles," Mrs. E. Walton's "Jack," F. R. Bechdoldt's "One-Too-Many" and H. A. Ancourt's "Yukon."

"Bruno," the airdale, owned by Delos Curtis was a victim, but was found before the poison was fully effective.

An attempt to kill Tyrrell Harthorne's dog resulted in the death of a pet rabbit.

John's Thanksgiving.

By Willis Brooks.

John Eddy shamed the laggard night,
So early was his day begun.

He breakfasted by candle light,
And toiled ahead till set of sun.
Then by the glow a lantern shed
His cows were milked, his stock was fed,
And all his evening chores were done
Before he tumbled into bed.

One autumn morning, on his way,
The parson stopped and urged him so
To come to church Thanksgiving Day
That John at last resolved to go.
But to the parson's deep regret,
He still denied Creation's debt.
"What thanks," said John, "do farmers owe
For working hard for all they get?"

In church that day John Eddy dreamed
He saw the sun in splendor rise,
Yet from a thankless world, it seemed,
No welcome went to greet the skies;
No chirping insect voice was raised;
The birds in heedless silence gazed;
And there, before his wondering eyes,
A morning came unsung, unpraised.

Then rolling thunder shook the land:
"Ungrateful world!" it seemed to say;
And from above a mighty hand
Swept down and bore the sun away.
Too late the field and forest vied
In pleading song; in vain they cried
For one sweet hour of blessed day,
Which tardily they gloried.

John Eddy, wakened, spoke as one
Who entertained a novel thought:
"How little man himself has done!
How much for him has Nature wrought!
What lavish gifts of sun and shower
Thanksgiving comes, or come it ought.
To fructify the field and flower!
Not once a year, but every hour."

Carmel Artists in Local Exhibition

Monday afternoon marked the successful opening of the holiday exhibition at Arts and Crafts Hall. The opening days have been remarkably well attended, and the display of small paintings and thumb-nail sketches are unusually clever.

The ladies of the reception committee, Miss DeNeale Morgan, Miss J. M. Culbertson, Miss I. Johnson, Miss H. Curtis and Mrs. L. C. Heywood, received and served tea to the many guests.

Each of the following exhibitors is well represented by several characteristic sketches: E. B. Adams, L. L. Peabody, Mary H. Ross, W. C. Covington, Helen C. Brown, Elizabeth Strong, William Silva, Evan Mosher, Frances Clark, George Seidenbeck, Miss J. M. Culbertson, Miss I. Johnson, Miss M. DeNeale Morgan, P. Kirtland Mays, W. C. Watts, Edith McGuire, Helen Curtis, Catherine Comstock, Cornelius and Jessie Botke and Ada Bell Champlain.

Traditions of Christmas Festival.

In the records of every nation we find traditions of the Christmas festival, traditions which have been handed down from generation to generation in oft-told tales which thrilled the hearts of the listeners with alternate fear and delight. Sir Walter Scott tells us that they who are born upon Christmas or Good Friday will see spirits, and will have the power of commanding them. He also adds that the Spaniards imputed the downcast looks of their monarch, Philip II, to the disagreeable visions to which this privilege subjected him.

Bring Smiles of Gladness.

It is not so much the thought of receiving the customary holiday gifts which most pleases the fancy, but rather that pleasure the heart derives from dwelling upon joyful surprises it may bestow upon others. To bring a smile of gladness upon another's face is, indeed, a boon more precious than a Christmas gift, and the joy of bestowing can never be equaled by the receiving.

Sunset School

Entertainment

The lower grade pupils of the Sunset school, under the direction of Miss Day and Miss Guichard, held a little Thanksgiving entertainment for the pupils, their parents and friends. The following program was well received and cleverly executed by the children:

The Story of the Pilgrims, Lucy Abell.

Song, "The Birds," First Grade.

Recitation, "Daisy's Thanksgiving," Vere Basham.

Acrostic "Thanksgiving," Second Grade.

Recitation, "A Song for Thanksgiving," Dorothy Mooney.

Play, "Penniless Thanksgiving," Fourth and Fifth Grades.

Recitation, "Jeffy's Wish," Florence Edler.

Song, "Thanksgiving Day," Primary Grades.

Recitation, "Thanksgiving Dinner," Iola Nichols.

The Pilgrim Girls and Indian Boys, Primary Grades.

Recitation, "What Makes Thanksgiving," Marian Jannotta.

"America," School.

Items of Interest

The Christian Scientists will hold Thanksgiving services at the church edifice this morning at 11 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

The Bird Club will meet with Mrs. Charles Sumner Green on Verde street Friday, November 26th, at 3 p. m. All who are interested in bird life are invited to be present.

Harry J. Coleman leaves Carmel for the North this afternoon in response to an invitation to make the initial air trip between San Francisco and Portland in the new 800 horse-power airplane which has just been completed. Mr. Coleman was a Captain of Engineers during the late war, and is prominently identified with aviation activities. He recently made a remarkable series of aerial photographs of the Carmel Mission for the Restoration Committee.

Warning Against the

Use of Mushrooms

The hunting is fine in the hills and dales which surround Carmel and the sportsmen and women are bringing home limit bags daily.

There are three game seasons which are now open and the law distinctly states that we are permitted to hunt ducks, quail and mushrooms at the present writing. All three of the aforesaid birds of prey are equally popular with the Carmel cuisine.

In order to hunt the quail and ducklets it is only necessary to have a gun, a good eye and plenty of ammunition, and the fatalities among these birds are few. But in trailing the elusive mushroom to its lair it is an entirely different matter, and the records show that many lives have been sacrificed in the mistaken identity of the wild and woolly mushroom.

So that the rapid and steady increase in the Carmel population will not be impaired the horticultural editor of the Pine Cone has the following information to offer:

"With the early rains, mushrooms are appearing in quantity and let us hope that no mistake will be made and poisonous, so called toadstools, eaten for mushrooms.

"All the poisonous toadstools have white gills, the thin plates on the underside of the cap, but the good mushrooms have pink gills.

"While all white gilled fungi are not poisonous, all poisonous fungi have white gills. So let all fungi having white gills alone."

Audubon Society Protests

Slaying of Surf Birds

Mrs. G. F. Beardsley, secretary of the Audubon Society of Carmel, has advised the game warden and Federal authorities that the local ordinance against the use of firearms within the city limits must be enforced.

This protest was brought about by the recent shooting of gulls, loons and surf birds on the Carmel Beach. Mrs. Beardsley calls attention to the fact that these birds are not edible and to the Federal law which protects them, also that the Audubon Society will insist on its rigid enforcement.

The annual cat show is advertised to open in San Francisco shortly, and the number of stray felines which have appeared in Carmel recently would suggest that they have selected our municipality as their official training quarters.

Declares Filipinos All Want Independence

Former Illinois Congressman, Back From Philippines, Gives Interesting Views on Island Affairs.

By FORMER CONGRESSMAN CLYDE H. TAVENNER.

Clyde H. Tavenner.

The 10,500,000 inhabitants of the Philippines are practically unanimous in their desire for independence.

This is the strongest impression that I have brought back with me after touring the islands from one end to the other, and after having come in contact with all classes of the people.

I found, however, that the viewpoint of Americans in the Philippines, and Americans in the United States, on the subject of independence, is not the same.

The attitude of the American government, and the great mass of the people of the United States, is to consider the Philippine question from the unselfish viewpoint of what is best for the Filipino people. Ninety-five per cent of the opposition to independence emanates from American investors in the islands who are quite naturally more interested in the size of their dividends than the freedom of an alien people.

The unfortunate feature of the situation is that the opponents of independence, in order to convince the people of the United States that the Filipinos should not be granted their independence, and it necessary to label an entire race. To tell a sensitive Christian people that they shall not have their promised independence because they are not fit for it will in the end prove a mistaken policy. It will only make their demand for independence the stronger.

At the present time, however, the masses of the Filipino people still have absolute confidence in the good faith of America. Their loyalty and gratitude to Uncle Sam has not as yet been impaired by the misrepresentations of the retentionists. Their leaders are intelligent enough to distinguish between those Americans who oppose their aspirations to independence for purely selfish reasons, and the great mass of the American people whom they know desire this government to do by the Filipinos only that which is just and right.

In this connection, it is interesting to review the development of the present friendly relationship between the Filipino and American peoples.

Previous to 1910 the Philippine-American relationship is declared to have been not of the best. But with the passage in that year of the Jones law by practically both the Republican and Democratic memberships of Congress, a better feeling developed. This "better feeling" has now grown into a very strong bond of sympathy and affection.

The happy attitude of the Filipino people toward America is due not principally to the fact that Americans have shown the Filipinos how to make their country a better place to live in; not principally to the fact we have superintended the implanting in the Philippines of one of the finest educational systems in the world; nor to the building of high class roads, bridges and public works—but in due principally to the fact that in the Jones law America gave the Filipinos her word of honor that as soon as a stable government could be established we would withdraw our sovereignty from the Philippine Islands.

It might, at first thought, seem strange that in their sincere appreciation of all that we have done for them the Filipino people should place most emphasis on the promise to grant them their independence. For it cannot be successfully denied that on the whole the United States has treated the Filipino people better than any nation ever treated a dependent alien people in all the days since the curtain rose on the dawn of civilization. If we do not spoil it, it is a record that we can be proud of.

But it really isn't so strange that the Filipino should love us more for our promise to give them sovereignty over themselves than for our other good works, for which, after all, outside of army and navy expenditures, the Filipinos have been taxed, and properly so, for every cent of the cost. If we but reverse the situation, and place ourselves in the shoes of the Filipinos, which cannot be said to be an unfair way of getting at the other fellow's viewpoint, we shall see that it is not strange.

Suppose that Great Britain or any other power that you can think of by referring to your geography or history, should impose its sovereignty upon us against our will and then give us an infinitely better government than we now enjoy? Could any such foreign power ever succeed in convincing us that it had our welfare more at heart than we have ourselves?

But to return to my story, the Filipinos heartily thanked us for the Jones law, considering it a sort of a covenant between the Filipino and American peoples, and immediately applied themselves to the task of setting up the prescribed stable government. And they set it up. It is in the Philippines now. America's own representative in the islands, the governor general, officially reports it is there, and recommends that since the Filipinos have earnestly fulfilled their part of the agreement, America should be as prompt in carrying out its part of the contract.

So that, in a few words, it is not the Philippines that now are on trial, but the United States.

There is but one answer. America will carry out its agreement. And since we are going to do it, we cannot afford to quibble and split hairs and hesitate until our tardiness robs us of half the glory of our achievement. Let us act with a promptness and willingness really worthy of America.

And when the people of the United States set up the Philippine Republic as the first Christian democracy of the Far East, they will be building a monument to themselves that will stand throughout eternity. On that day the beacon light of hope, humanity and justice will flash around the world. Such an example by America will accomplish more for the weak and struggling peoples of the earth than the four year world war, with all its cost in life and treasure.

"for clean oil in a clean engine"
Inside facts on a dirty job!

YOUR ENGINE requires an internal bath frequently. Road dust, carbon from the combustion chamber, and fine particles of metal worn from the bearing surfaces get into the lubricating oil in the crankcase. All this dirt circulates with the oil through the engine. If it isn't drained out regularly there's bound to be excessive wear and tear.

Gasoline also escapes past the pistons and dilutes the oil.

Modern Crankcase Cleaning Service gets rid of the dirty, diluted oil, flushes the crankcase thoroughly and refills with clean, fresh oil.

The garages listed below are now equipped to perform this needed service quickly and for a nominal charge. We use Calol Flushing Oil, which cleanses thoroughly without danger of contaminating the fresh Zerolene refilled into the cleaned crankcase.

TODAY: Bring in your car for Modern Crankcase Cleaning Service. It will result in better engine performance and longer life for your car.

OLD TALE RETOLD

Origin of the American Thanksgiving Day.

Will Bear Repetition Annually as Something of Which Every Citizen May Be Proud.

The ancient Thanksgiving did not, as some have fancied, skip down the ages to find its home in America. In one way or another it seems to have always been observed. Throughout Europe, before the Reformation, special days were set apart as days of religious thanksgiving. The American Thanksgiving day is traced back to the Pilgrims.

Shortly after the landing of the Pilgrims, while searching for a suitable place in which to build their homes, they one day came upon some deserted Indian huts, in which they found some baskets filled with corn. From this supply they succeeded in saving enough to plant their first year's crop.

In the spring of 1621 the seed corn was sown and its growing watched anxiously by the people of the little colony. To their great joy, the harvest of the following October was a beautiful one. Governor Bradford ordered a three days' feast in celebration thereof. Wild turkeys, geese, ducks and water fowl, corn bread and vegetables no doubt formed the chief constituents of their feast, not to speak of the five deer brought in by a tribe of friendly Indians.

This festival is supposed to be the first real Thanksgiving day from which we date our celebration. This celebration, although without doubt the origin of our national Thanksgiving day, may be looked upon as merely a local observance, being held by the Plymouth colony only. They were the forerunners of less local celebrations in Massachusetts and gradually in other colonies, for in 1630 a public Thanksgiving day was observed in Boston by the Bay colony, and again in 1631.

During the next fifty years there were as many as 22 public Thanksgiving days appointed in Massachusetts, usually in October or November, after the gathering in of the harvests, or to celebrate some public benefit. It did not become a regular holiday until a long time afterward.

In 1789 Washington issued the famous Thanksgiving proclamation recommending Thursday, November 26, as a national day to be devoted to prayer and Thanksgiving. Washington's example was followed by other Presidents.

In 1863 President Lincoln appointed the fourth Thursday in November as the national Thanksgiving day. Since then the day has been observed annually without interruption.

Therefore, Give Thanks.

Thanks to the providence of God as it has worked in history and to the work of brave men who believed they were children of God, the petty colonies are now one nation. Of that nation the meanest citizen, the most foolish, the weakest and the poorest, has every right and privilege before the law which belongs to the strongest, the noblest and the wisest. We were born in the purple of luxury.

A GLOOMY OUTLOOK

Turkey: I'm afraid they're feeding me too well. Thanksgiving must be coming.

SPECIAL MEETING

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the members of The Forest Theater of Carmel will be held at the office of said corporation at Arts and Crafts Hall, in the City of Carmel by-the-Sea, State of California, on the seventh day of December, 1920, at eight o'clock p. m., for the purpose of considering and adopting a code of by-laws for said corporation, and for the transaction of such other business as properly pertains thereto.

Said meeting has been called by order of the president of said corporation; and

Notice is hereby given that the members of said corporation may be represented by proxy thereto.

Carmel by-the-Sea, California, November 16, 1920.

GEORGE J. SEIDENECK,
Secretary.

Warning is hereby given to the people living in the neighborhood of Junipero street against being alarmed at any loud noises resembling the sawing of wood during the next couple nights. Editor Overstreet has been unable to sleep during his visit in San Francisco on account of the strange commotion caused by the thoughtless motorists, and is going to crowd a whole week's snoring into one night.

Wonder if This Applies to Carmel

Annie Laurie has been finding fault with some of the California cities with reference to the litter that is needlessly thrown about.

To show that this can be corrected, she writes:

"You could live in Denver five years and never see a man, woman or child throw a piece of paper as big as a two-bit piece into the street—for the very simple reason that any man, woman or child who did such a thing would be immediately led to a nice, neat refuse box by an impromptu delegation of amazed and indignant citizens and told what to do with a piece of paper when you had no further use for it yourself."

"And if you didn't put that paper in the refuse box, quite according to program, you would be arrested and fined until you learned to know better."

"In San Antonio, Texas, the city is so organized by the women's clubs that every ward is presided over by some woman who is held responsible for the cleanliness of her own district. School children are trained and taught to make it their business to help to keep the streets free from litter and rubbish."

"Galveston, Texas, has had for years an association for beautifying the streets, and that association not only sees to it that the street cleaners do their work, but makes it a matter of personal pride to every householder in the city to keep the street in front of his residence or his place of business as clean as a street can be—or know the reason why."

"Chicago has the slipperiest, muddiest, dirtiest streets in the world." Then to the question, "What to do about it?" she replies thus:

"I wonder if the women's clubs couldn't help."

"Women are natural born housekeepers. They know how to get rid of rubbish and litter, and they ought to know."

Always Willing to Pay High Prices for the Chief Feature of Thanksgiving Dinner.

New York spends about $3,000,000 on its Thanksgiving dinner, with turkey as its chief feature. The dealers say if it cost a dollar per pound they would sell just about as many. Turkey on Thanksgiving is traditional in America, and the farmer knows it. He fattens his best birds and saves them for this day. Without realizing it the farmer thus corners the market until the price gets high enough. Then he sells. But the people will have their turkey and this year the dealers expect a greater demand than ever, although they are selecting smaller birds in order to meet it.

The great part of the city's turkey supply comes from the Middle West—Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, Maryland and Kentucky send large consignments. This year "turkey specials" are run from St. Louis. A year ago one of these trains brought 32,000 birds for the local market.

Vast numbers of turkeys are raised in Missouri and Texas. The product of the latter state, where the birds feed on sage and sunflower seeds, is highly regarded. According to reports, however, the output of both of these sections has been effectively cornered this year.

New Mission Committee Convenes Here Shortly

The Missions are to be restored. An organization of all-Californians has been formed, pledged to work until the last of the twenty one Missions, built throughout California by the Franciscan Fathers, has again become a milestone for travelers.

The executive committee of the association is composed of Herbert Hoover, Luther Burbank, John G. Mott, Harry Chandler, Mrs. Florence Porter-Pfingst, R. M. Tobin, Charles T. Crocker and Mrs. Eleanor Martin.

In December, immediately following the return of Herbert Hoover from the East, an organization conference will be held at the Carmel Mission, when the officers of the association will be selected and the work planned.

No success has crowned the patient efforts of Father Raymond Mestres and his faithful co workers.

After laboring and studying for twenty nine years, Father Mestres has secured all the necessary data for the restoration and preservation and will have full charge of the actual work.

Residents and visitors of Carmel will rejoice in the knowledge that our splendid mission, San Carlos Borromeo, will again stand in all its beauty, a silent record of the indomitable courage and energy of its founder, Father Junipero Serra.

Movies Start Grinding on Point Lobos Sunday

Eric Von Stroheim has paid Carmel a one hundred thousand dollar compliment in the selection of Point Lobos for the erection of his make-believe Monte Carlo.

This great motion picture enterprise will have its culmination on Sunday when a few hundred members of San Francisco society will gown themselves and wager a couple tons of stage money in the beaver board replica of the salles de jeu at the Point Lobos Monte Carlo.

It will be a great day for society, it will be a great day for the Universal directors and IT WILL BE A GREAT DAY FOR CARMEL.

The tentacles of the great movie industry have been gradually spreading northward and have touched many times lightly on our shores, but the film which is to be turned on Sunday will register the first recognition in a big financial way of the unequalled scenic phenomena of the Carmel Coast. ITS UP TO US TO TALK AND BOOST CARMEL.

Carmel Children Have an Interesting Club

The Carmel Children's Club meets
Saturday evening at the studio of Mrs. C. L. Carrington and will continue weekly.

This little club is composed of Carmel children, who under the guidance of their teacher, known affectionately to them as "Mother" Carrington, conduct their meetings with Parliamentary dignity and sincerity.

After the business of the club was over, each child responded to her club name, that of an eminent composer, and sketched a brief history of his life and work. Musical games were played and stories read. In this manner this charming woman is developing a love of music in her devoted little friends.

Search for Turkeys in Carmel-by-the-Sea

Today King Turkey reigns and Carmel has in the midst of its colony of art and literary geniuses, a wizard who bears the same relation to this bird that Luther Burbank does to the spineless cactus and Thomas Edison to the door bell.

He grows them as big as Fords and feeds them cranberry sauce and apple dressing, and trains them to pluck themselves and climb right into the oven. If you doubt this—just call up Frederick Preston Search on Casanova street and he will let you talk to his father.

Visiting Auto Party Has Narrow Escape

The giant moving picture facsimile of Monte Carlo, which is being erected at Point Lobos, attracted many autoists over the week end and arrangements are being made by the Universal directors for the parking of the hundreds of autos which are expected Sunday.

One slight accident marred the day when a machine carrying a party of visitors from Watsonville left the highway at the foot of Oliver's Hill, on the Point Lobos road.

The fact that the heavy machine turned completely over and only slightly injured the four occupants is one more remarkable incident to add to Carmel's long list of wonders.

First news of the mishap was brought to Carmel by the arrival of a riderless cavalry horse belonging to a soldier from the Monterey Presidio, who left his saddle and delivered first aid.
